

Change of management at SACMI Packaging & Chocolate

Categories : Consumables, Food & Beverage, News, Operation & Maintenance

Date : 10. August 2021

With Thomas Hähn, SACMI Packaging & Chocolate Swiss SA has appointed a new sales manager for process and molding equipment in Germany, Austria and Switzerland. Since July 1, 2021, the mechanical engineer has been responsible for sales of chocolate production and molding equipment under the Carle & Montanari brand.

Thomas Hähn (45) has decades of international experience in the chocolate industry. The Rhinelander was employed for 15 years by the Swiss Buhler Group, first as a design and project engineer at Buhler Bindler, then since 2008 as an area sales manager with responsibility for several European, Asian, and North American countries.

Most recently, he served as Sales Account Manager Chocolate and Cocoa for the U.S. market at Bühler Inc. in Minneapolis. He starts his new mission at SACMI Packaging & Chocolate not only with great technical and market-specific know-how, but also with a good dose of enthusiasm.

"With the excellent products of the traditional Carle & Montanari brand, we want to be the preferred partner of our customers in the DACH region in five years' time. The confectionery industry needs to automate and many companies are ready to invest."

- Thomas Hähn